MILES, TYLEY, ATKINS, STRATTON

By Mrs. Frances Harrison Corbin

On page 1183 it was stated that Theophilus Miles, b at Milford 1 Dec 1703, married Katharine ———, probably niece of Louis Liron. This statement was based on Liron's will, which referred to Katharine Miles as his kinswoman. My investigations show that she was actually grandniece of Liron's wife, and establish a distinguished ancestry for her.

Bartholomew Stratton, bapt. in London, Eng., 12 Jan 1627/8, d in Boston, Mass., 9 Jan 1686; m Eliphal Sanford, b 9 Dec 1636, d 19 Jan 1724, da. of John Sanford of Portsmouth, R. Enoch Culver, Sr.

REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER

This is the story of a pair of stockings, and how they proved service in the Revolutionary War.

Enoch Culver was born in Wallingford, Conn., 30 Jan., 1725, and died there 22 Sept., 1812 in the 88th year of his age. He came of vigorous stock. His great-grandfather, Edward Culver, a veteran of the Pequot War of 1637, was robust enough to serve in his old age as a scout in King Philip's War in 1675. His grandfather, Joshua Culver, settled in New Haven, removing from there about 1680 to Wallingford, where he died at the age of 70. Enoch was son of Samuel Culver by his first wife, Ruth Tyler. His maternal grandparents were William Tyler and Mary Lathrop, the latter being a great-granddaughter of the Rev. John Lathrop.

The Colver-Culver Genealogy, page 76, says of Enoch: "It is stated by some authorities that he was a Revolutionary soldier, and that with his brother Samuel, he was taken prisoner at Fort Washington, but the compiler of this genealogy has been unable to verify this statement." The book quoted is quite incomplete and contains many inaccuracies, but it is probable that the above statement was based on family tradition. Such muster rolls of Connecticut soldiers in the Revolutionary War as have been preserved do not contain the name of Enoch Culver, Sr. This negative evidence is inconclusive, because the extant muster rolls are very incomplete. It can be proved from muster rolls and official documents that Samuel Culver, Enoch's younger half-brother, who was born 25 Sept., 1728, served as Ensign in Col. Hooker's regiment, that he was held a prisoner from 29 June, 1779 to 2 Jan., 1781, and that he died at Wallingford, 22 March, 1781, shortly after his release, as a result of the privations he had undergone. Enoch Culver, Sr., who settled his brother's estate, presented a claim to the Conn. Legislature for wages due to his deceased brother Samuel, on behalf of the latter's family.

Hence it is certain that Enoch Culver, Sr., was in sympathy with the patriotic cause, for had there been the slightest question of his loyalty, he would not have been chosen to present this petition on behalf of his brother's family. This fact also suggests that there may have been some truth in the family tradition preserved in the Colver-Culver Genealogy, though it cannot be proved now.

In the Revolutionary Archives at the Conn. State Library, vol. 12, document 439a, is an account against the State presented by the town of Wallingford. It is headed "Wallingford, Jan.^a 1, 1778 A Count of the Clothing bought for the Continental Army by sd Army," and the following item appears thereunder: "1. Pare of Stockings to Enoch Culver—0. 9. 0." Taking these words in their usual significance, the implication of this item is that Enoch Culver was serving in the Continental Army prior to Jan. 1, 1778, most likely during the preceding year, and that these stockings having been bought and supplied to him, the town of Wallingford was billing the State for their value. The question is whether the reference pertains to Enoch, Sr., or to his son Enoch.

The following references to the family of Enoch, Sr., are found in the Wallingford Vital Records, which are scattered through the early volumes of deeds. These entries are in vol. 15, the margins of which are frayed, making portions of the entries illegible. The missing portions have been supplied in parentheses from the History of Wallingford (published 1870), page 722, the children named in Enoch's will, and other sources. On page 680: "Enoch Culver Married Lois Benham P. Saml^l Hall Esqr. (8 Feb., 1749)." On the following page are entered the births of the following children to Enoch and Lois Culver:

Ebenezer, born 30 Aug., 1749.

(E)sther, born 24 July, 1751.

(John), born 28 Dec., 1753.

(L)ois, born 4 June, 1756.

(E)noch, born 24 Oct., 1763.

On page 682 are entered the deaths of Enoch and William, sons of Enoch (Sr.) and Lois Culver, but the year of death in both instances has been lost from the margin of the page. The births of these two sons are not found on record, but presumably they were born between Lois in 1756 and Enoch in 1763.

Enoch Culver, Jr., married Lucy Hall on 19 Oct., 1786 (Wallingford Deeds, vol. 22, page 222). The files of the Bureau of Pensions at Washington contain documents relating to the service in the Revolutionary War of Enoch, Jr. A letter from the Acting Commissioner of the Bureau, dated 16 April, 1924, gives the following information:

"I have to advise you that from the papers in the Revolutionary War petition claim, W. 25464, it appears that Enoch Culver (Jr.) was born October 24, 1761, at Wallingford, New Haven County, Connecticut.

"While residing in Wallingford, Connecticut, he enlisted and served in the Connecticut Militia as follows;

"From August 1778 two months in Captain Lusk's Company.

"From July 1779 two months in Captain Dan Collins' Company.

"From September 1780 two months in Captain Oliver Stanley's Company.

"From August 1781 two months in Captain John Hough's Company.

"He was allowed pension on his application executed January 23, 1838, while residing in Burlington, Hartford County, Connecticut. He died March 1, 1838.

"He married October 19, 1786, at Wallingford, Connecticut, Lucy Hall. She was allowed pension on her application executed December 27, 1838, while residing in Burlington, Connecticut, aged sixty-six years."

As Enoch, Sr., died before the passage of the first general pension act, he never applied for a pension, and would not have been likely to do so unless totally incapacitated as a result of his service. It is extremely probable that Enoch, Jr., claimed in his application for pension ALL the military service he performed. It is important that the earliest service claimed by him started in August 1778, over seven months after the date of the Wallingford account dated 1 Jan., 1778, which included the item of stockings to Enoch Culver. The latter document did not specify Sr. or Jr., and in the lack of specification, it is more reasonable to infer that the father was intended, rather than a young boy of not quite fifteen.

Apparently the only objection to the conclusion that the service prior to 1 Jan., 1778, belonged to Enoch, Sr., is his age at the time of service, which was fifty-two years. It has been shown above that Enoch's half-brother Samuel was in active service when over fifty years old; in fact, both Samuel and his son of the same name served in the army, the father being an officer and the son a private. Enoch, Sr., lived to be eighty-eight, and the family in that generation seems to have been robust and hardy. What his brother Samuel did, it was possible for Enoch to do.

Largely on the strength of the pair of stockings, Enoch Culver, Sr., has been accepted by the General Society, Daughters of the Revolution, and by the National Society, Daughters of Founders and Patriots, as an eligible ancestor with active war service.

It will be noted that Enoch Culver, Jr., in his application stated his date of birth as 24 Oct., 1761, whereas the entry of his birth in Wallingford records stated it as 24 Oct. 1763. The present writer read the date as 1763 in the Wallingford records, but after learning from the Pension Office that the man himself had stated the year as 1761, and realizing the damaged condition of the page on which the birth was entered, modestly assumed that he had misread the date, and therefore printed it as 1761 in volume II., page 469, of the present work. Another examination of the Wallingford record has verified the original reading of the date as 1763. Whether the Wallingford entry or the man's own knowledge of his age is at fault, cannot be determined with certainty. If 1763 was correct, he was not quite fifteen at the date of his first enlistment, August 1778, and like many youths eager to play their part in war times, may have overstated his age deliberately at his first enlistment. In that event, he may have set back the date of his birth two years when filing his pension application, in order to make it correspond with his alleged age at the time of his enlistment. This is the most probable explanation of the discrepancy, and if true, makes it all the more unlikely that he was in active service earlier than August 1778, and confirms our conclusion that the service rendered prior to 1 Jan., 1778 was the service of his father Enoch, Sr.

Bethany Mortality List

Contributed by Rev. Wallace Humiston, Northfield, Conn.

This list of deaths was kept for five years in a book in which appear the words "Denzel Hitchcock's book". It relates to people who lived in Bethany parish, and since scarcely one of these entries is to be found in the public records, the list is of great value. It should be noted that this private recorder, while usually stating ages in years, months, and days, in several instances overstated the age by an exact year.

Book Reviews

This department of the New Haven Genealogical Magazine offers to compilers and publishers of genealogical books the opportunity to secure fair and honest reviews of their productions. The reviewer will do his utmost to point out the good features of every book which is presented for review, but in fairness to those who read the reviews will mention striking deficiencies, such as the lack of an index, unusually poor arrangement of material, or gross inaccuracies. All genealogical books, even the poorest, have some value, insofar as they present material not to be found elsewhere in print, and it is our aim to say the best that can be said of each book. Those who wish books reviewed should send them to the address below.

BLACKMAN Blackman and Allied Families. Compiled for Nathan Lincoln Blackman by Alfred L. Holman. Privately printed, Chicago, 1928. 8°, cloth, 1 chart, 258 pp. Address: Nathan L. Blackman, 6930 South Shore Drive, Chicago, Ill.

The first twenty-one pages are devoted to a record of the family of John Blackman (of Dorchester 1640), one branch of which is brought down for eight generations. A very full account is given of the families of James Adams (of Westerly 1698), of Thomas Joslin (of Hingham 1635), and of John Keigwin (of Stonington 1702).

The remainder of the volume deals less exhaustively with other families from whom Mr. Blackman traces his descent. A great deal of information is compressed into small compass, and descendants of the following Connecticut settlers will find much of interest in the book: Robert Allen or Allyn (of New London 1651); William Billings (of New London by 1670); Richard Birge (of Windsor 1640); Robert Campbell (of New London 1714); Stephen Gates (of Preston 1708, son of Stephen of Hingham 1638); William Gaylord (of Windsor 1638); George Geer (of New London 1659); Jonathan Gillett (of Windsor 1635); Thomas Holcombe (of Windsor 1635); Robert Howard (of Windsor by 1643); John Ingersoll (of Hartford by 1651); William Kennedy (of Preston before 1727); Thomas Kilbourne (of Wethersfield by 1640); Joseph Loomis (of Windsor 1639); Thomas Lord (of Hartford 1636); Daniel McMains of Plainfield 1734); John Marsh (of Hartford 1636); John Packer (of New London by 1651); Walter Palmer (of Stonington); Robert Parke (of Stonington); George Phelps (of Windsor 1635); Stephen Randall (of Stonington, son of John of Westerly); Thomas Rose (of New London); Ephraim Sawyer (of Windham 1717, grandson of Thomas of Lancaster); Gerard Spencer (of Haddam 1660); Josiah Standish (of Norwich 1686, son of Myles of Plymouth); Roger Sterry (of Stonington 1671); and Gov. John Webster (of Hartford 1636).

Other New England families, of the following names, are also considered: Allen, Blogget, Brooks, Brown, Church, Collins, Edmands, Farrar, Gardner, George, Hall, Hayward, Heywood, King, Linton, Mason, Newhall, Pelton, Potter, Prescott, Richards, Sabin, Scott, Shaw, Smith, Tucker, Warren, Waters, Wheeler, Whitcomb, Wilder, and Woodward.

The matter is well arranged, and an index provided. References to printed sources are given, and on many of the families much original research has been done. Many documents are quoted, and the illustrations add to the value of the book. The fact that Mr. Holman is the compiler gives assurance that the research was carefully done and that the information found in the book is dependable. It ranks with the best pedigree books of this type, and is recommended to genealogical students and libraries.

DODGE Dodge Genealogy Colonial Ancestry: The Nicholls-Upham Line: The Nicholls-Bruce Line. Compiled by Olive E. Dodge. Published by Melvin Gilbert Dodge, Utica, N. Y., 1925. 15 p. 8°.

This pamphlet states the ancestry of Lydia Nicholls, wife of William Dodge, through her father Benjamin Nicholls of Mansfield, Conn., and her mother Lydia Upham. It follows "Sergeant Francis Nicholls and Descendants of his Son, Caleb", by Walter Nicholls, in stating that Francis Nicholls of Stratford, the first settler, was son of Francis & Margaret (Bruce) Nicholls and hence brother of Gov. Richard Nicolls of New York. This statement of the parentage of Francis of Stratford is erroneous. Francis the brother of Richard was a Royalist Captain, who followed the King into exile, and died on the Continent; since the Civil War in England did not break out until 1642, and our American Francis was in Stratford in 1639 and died there in 1650, the identification is impossible. On page 13 it is stated that Benjamin Nicholls who was born at Stratford 15 June 1729, married at Mansfield, Conn., 20 June 1745, Lydia Upham. No proof is given, and although it is not impossible that a youth of sixteen was married at that age in a town far removed from his place of residence, the circumstances are unusual and descendants of the Mansfield Benjamin should seek record proof of these statements before accepting them.

HARMON The Ancestry of Lydia Harmon 1755-1836, wife of Joseph Waterhouse of Standish, Maine. By Walter Goodwin Davis. Published by Stanhope Press, Boston, Mass., 1924. 122 p. 8°

This is a model volume, evidencing careful and thorough research in original record sources. The material is well arranged and presented, and there is an adequate index. A very full account is given of the early Harmons of New England, and other families treated are those of William

Roberts of Oyster River, N. H., Robert Goodale of Salem and Wells, Isaac Cousins of Wells, John Hoyt of Amesbury, Newington and Scarborough, George Brown of Salisbury, Robert Taprill and George Walton of Great Island, N. H., and Daniel Hasty of Scarborough. This volume also contains a reprint of a curious tract entitled "Lithobolia: or, the Stone-Throwing Devil", originally printed in London in 1698, which narrates the supernatural events that harassed George Walton's family at Great Island, N. H.

HOSMER Hosmer Genealogy. Descendants of James Hosmer who Emigrated to America in 1635 and Settled in Concord, Mass. By George Leonard Hosmer. Pub. Cambridge, Mass., 1928. 271 p. 8°. Order from George L. Hosmer, Room 1-239, Mass. Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass. Price, $10.00.

The family name is traced to Saxon times, and the ancestry of the American Hosmers is authentically traced to James Hosmer (died 1605) of Ticehurst, co. Sussex, the grandfather of Thomas Hosmer, founder of the Hartford, Conn., branch and of his brother James Hosmer, founder of the Concord, Mass., branch. The old difficulty regarding the identity of the mother of the emigrants is carefully analysed, and her real identity established.

The book, which is attractively bound in cloth, with gilt top, traces the Concord branch, and lists over 3400 individuals who were related by descent or marriage to the emigrant James. The arrangement of the genealogical matter is clear and workmanlike, and there is an adequate index (27 pages). The compiler in his preface modestly disclaims any pretense that his Hosmer history is complete. However, completeness is an ideal impossible of attainment in this kind of work, and Mr. Hosmer has merited the gratitude of Hosmer descendants and genealogical students in general, for preserving the valuable material he has collected by publication in a form which makes it accessible to all.

There are pictures of the churches at Ticehurst, co. Sussex, and at Hawkhurst, co. Kent, with which the grandparents and parents of the emigrants were associated, and other illustrations. We recommend the volume to genealogical libraries.

SEAMAN The Seaman Family in America as descended from Captain John Seaman of Hempstead, Long Island. By Mary Thomas Seaman. New York, 1928. 338 p. 8°. Order from the author, Miss Mary T. Seaman, 2 Montague Terrace, Brooklyn, N. Y. Price, $20.00.

This volume, recently issued from the press of Tobias A. Wright, Inc., presents an attractive appearance, with red cloth binding, gilt top, a high grade of laid paper, and excellent typography.

It contains a wealth of material on the descendants of Capt. John Seaman, who after a brief sojourn in Massachusetts and Connecticut, became an original proprietor of Hempstead, L. I., in 1647, and was appointed Captain of Queens County Troop in 1665. Miss Seaman's courage in undertaking to record the history of so prolific a family is worthy of applause; for Captain John is credited with sixteen children, and the Hempstead Census of 1698 lists forty Seamans. A simple numbering system is employed; descendants in the male line are traced, and the children of Seaman daughters given, when known.

Great praise should be bestowed on the choice of the twenty-two illustrations. Of these, the coat-of-arms (in black and white) may be purchased separately for $1.00, and the reproductions of the 1657 deed from the Indians to Seaman and others, and the autographed deed of John Seaman to his sons, as well as three pictures of Seaman homesteads, and a unique map, are sold separately at fifty cents each. Other original documents, deeds, marriage certificates, etc., are reproduced in the book, which as a whole and in detail should be of absorbing interest to Seaman descendants. The book is well indexed (45 pages).

The difficulties that beset the searcher who attempts to trace Long Island families are only too well known to the reviewer, and where deficiencies occur in the present volume, we are more disposed to sympathize than to criticize. However, the possibilities of research on the early generations have not been exhausted, and a few inaccuracies strike the eye. On page 14 we find the statement: "In 1646 John Seaman and his brother Caleb are recorded in New Haven, Conn. At this period came the Pequod Indian War, and Captain John Mason was given chief command (as Major) of the Connecticut Troops. To John Seaman he gave command of one of the Companies", etc. Actually, the name of John Seaman was not mentioned in New Haven records in 1646, when Caleb Seaman, quite possibly his brother, was recorded as about to return to England. The Pequot War was fought in 1637, before New Haven was in existence. John Mason led the Connecticut Colony troops as Captain, and was called by that title in the colonial records as late as 1653, the title Major being first applied to him in May 1654. We have been unable to find in any contemporary source the statement that John Seaman served under Mason in the Pequot War. No master roll of Connecticut troops serving under Mason has ever been found or published, and the most accurate list obtainable is the one painstakingly compiled by the late James Shepard in his pamphlet, "Connecticut Soldiers in the Pequot War of 1637"—a work which, incidentally, does not mention the name of John Seaman.

We have called attention, in the interest of historical accuracy, to what we can only consider an unproved (and probably unprovable) statement in "The Seaman Family", and we believe that Miss Seaman was led into error by following secondary instead of primary sources of historical information respecting the career of Capt. John Seaman. We in no sense intend to impugn her general accuracy, or the value of the genealogical statistics which she has preserved in her sumptuous volume, which we cordially recommend to genealogical libraries.

STORK The Genealogy of the Descendants of Moses Stork, Scarborough, Yorkshire, Old England. Compiled and published by Charles A. Storke of Santa Barbara, Calif., 1925. 21 p. 12°.

The founder of this family was Moses Stork, who by 1746 had come from Scarborough, co. York, England, to New London, Conn., removing a few years later to Branford, Conn. From there the family removed to Chenango County, N. Y. The descendants are traced and listed with exactness. This pamphlet was issued and distributed in the hope of eliciting additional information for a more complete history of the family. On the early generations, unpublished vital, probate and census records are quoted, adding to the value of the booklet.

Accurate; not indexed.

STOWE Ancestry and some of the descendants of Capt. Stephen Stowe of Milford, Conn. Compiled and published by Nathan Stowe of Milford, Conn., 1924. 24 p. 8°

This interesting pamphlet traces one branch of the John Stowe family of Roxbury, Mass., through his son Thomas of Middletown, Conn., and Thomas, Jr., and Dea. Samuel, both of Middletown, to the latter's son Stephen Stowe (1726-1777) of Milford, who had four sons in active service in the Revolutionary War, and lost his own life nursing the sick American soldiers. The line is traced to the grandfather of the emigrant, based on the research in England of Mrs. Elizabeth (French) Bartlett. A full record of brothers and sisters is given in each generation; also biographical notes of ancestors in the direct line; the ancestry of Freelove Baldwin, wife of Capt. Stephen Stowe; and a partial record of their descendants.

Accurate; complete within self-imposed limits; not indexed.

TOWNE The Ancestry of Lieut. Amos Towne 1737-1793 of Arundel (Kennebunkport), Maine. By Walter Goodwin Davis. Published by The Southworth Press, Portland, Me., 1927. 81 p. 8°

Like the Harmon book noticed above, this is a splendid piece of work, based on original research both here and abroad. It treats of the families of William Towne of Topsfield and Arundel, whose antecedents in England are traced, Thomas Browning of Salem and Topsfield, Robert Smith of Boxford, Ens. Thomas Freuch of Ipswich, Zacheus Curtis of Boxford and Topsfield, and Thomas Looke of Lynn and Boxford. Mr. Davis, in issuing monographs on the families of early settlers, such as are contained in this volume and the Harmon book, has set a high standard of excellence, and we hope he will continue to publish the results of his researches.

At Ye Editor's Desk

In sending out renewal forms for Volume VI, it gives the editor the greatest pleasure to announce that the magazine has at last been placed on a solid foundation, and to thank those subscribers and friends whose interest and generosity made this possible.

Within the past two years a total of $419 was donated to the Endowment Fund, the individual gifts ranging from $1 to $100. This has made it possible for the editor to employ the ~~the~~ needed clerical assistance, and since the establishment of this fund the manuscript of the New Haven families has been prepared for the printer, from the letter M to the end of the alphabet.

In addition to the cash endowment, the magazine has been greatly assisted by the action of several subscribers in subscribing for an extra copy, and particularly the liberality of the Society of the Colonial Wars in the State of Connecticut in purchasing five complete sets of the magazine.

The raising of the advance subscription price from $5 to $6, beginning with Volume V., enabled the magazine for the first time in its history to pay current printing expenses out of current income.

The preparation of the manuscript for the printer to the end of the alphabet, although it will nearly exhaust the Endowment Fund, guarantees the continued publication of the magazine until the record of New Haven families is completed. It is estimated that Volumes VI., VII. and VIII. will take care of this material. It is the editor's intention, as the sale of back issues gradually produces profit, to replace the amount that has been expended out of the Endowment Fund, and to hold it towards the preparation of an index after the eight volumes are completed.

Contributors to the Endowment Fund were:

J. M. Andreini	John C. Pearson
Mrs. J. M. Andreini	William H. Peck
Mrs. Noyes D. Baldwin	George McK. Roberts
Lucius B. Barbour	E. V. D. Selden
H. Prescott Beach	George Dudley Seymour
George C. Bryant	Henry H. Townshend
Miss Lucy Peck Bush	Francis B. Trowbridge
Leonard M. Daggett	Albert M. Turner
John Clapperton Kerr	Society of Colonial Wars in the State
Mrs. John Clapperton Kerr	of Connecticut
Mrs. William Maluge

To all of these good friends, as well as to the other subscribers, many of whom expressed their regret at not feeling able to contribute, the editor is grateful for the assistance and encouragement he has received.

The New Haven Genealogical Magazine is the only publication in Connecticut which is devoted solely to genealogy. It was begun with the object of publishing the material which the editor had collected during many years of research on the old families of New Haven. After this work is completed, we hope to continue the magazine and make it state-wide in scope. With this in view, we have from time to time added occasional features in line with the new policy. In the present issue, we have started a new section for the purpose of reviewing genealogical books. Very few periodicals in the country, and none in Connecticut, offer to compilers and publishers of this type of book a forum for a fair and honest review. We hope that many will take advantage of it. In order that subscribers may lose nothing by the addition of the book review and advertising features, we have increased the size of this issue to the extent of several pages.

In closing, we feel moved to say a word in appreciation of our printer's work, and to thank him for the keen interest he has always shown in the Magazine and its success, for his patience when we have been (at times) impatient, and for his moderation in charges for his services. Without the last named, the Magazine could not have survived its first two years, which financially were the hardest. Mr. Smith is himself a genealogical student, with a wide knowledge of the early families of Central New York, and not infrequently he has added items to our manuscript which have increased its value, and which we have not heretofore acknowledged as they were incorporated in the body of the work.

Others, non-subscribers as well as subscribers, have furnished many items relating to New Haven families, which we are glad to be able to print at the end of each volume under the heading, "Additions and Corrections". It is always our intention to make acknowledgement, when printing these items, to those who contributed them.

WOOSTER

The Wooster Family Association is desirous of publishing the Wooster material now in its possession in order that it may not be lost to posterity. Most of this material was collected over twenty-five years ago by the late Dr. Frederick Wooster Owen, from record sources and from Woosters all over the country, many of them aged people who have since passed away. Funds are sought to cover the cost of editing and publishing these records. It is hoped that interested members of the family who are able and willing to underwrite part of the cost will communicate with the Association at the address given below. Members of the Association have pledged part of the funds required, but it is estimated that $500. more will be needed. The Association will also welcome family records for their files and for eventual publication.

MINER AND ALLIED FAMILIES

"One Branch of the Miner Family, with extensive notes on the Wood, Lounsberry, Rogers, and fifty other allied families of Connecticut and Long Island" by Mrs. Lillian Lounsberry (Miner) Selleck, 261 pages, preceded by preface and historical introduction, one color plate, 25 other illustrations, two charts. Edition limited to 200 copies. Price $10., which includes postage. Address the publisher, Donald L. Jacobus, P. O. Box 647, New Haven, Conn.

A very full account is given of the early generations of the Miner family descended from Thomas Miner of Stonington, and the family is traced for several generations in England. Although the other families are treated less exhaustively, brothers and sisters are given in each generation as far as each line is carried down, making the book useful to genealogical students who are interested in these families. The Woodhull chapter, which includes an account of the Fordham family, is long and detailed, and the compiler takes issue with some of the statements made in the Woodhull Genealogy. The account of the Lockwood family corrects several errors of the Lockwood Genealogy. A very complete history is given of one branch of the Wood, Lounsberry, and Rogers families.

FOUNDERS OF CONNECTICUT

The undersigned is seeking support for the compilation of a book treating of the "Founders of Connecticut". In a very few years this State will celebrate its Tercentennial, and surely no better way can be found to commemorate the anniversary than by honoring the founders in a book devoted to a detailed account of them, their achievements, and their families.

Genealogy has been revolutionized since Savage published his pioneer work in 1860, and since then books have been published on the early settlers of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The splendid work of Mr. Libby on the early families of Maine and New Hampshire is now in process of compilation, and the first part has appeared in print. Connecticut should not lag too far behind her sister States of New England in thus paying tribute to her founders.

It has long been the hope of the undersigned to undertake such a work for Connecticut, but pressure of other engagements and the necessity of earning a livelihood have stood in the way. It is understood that the work on Maine and New Hampshire families has had financial backing from a public-spirited citizen. Perhaps there are those in Connecticut who have both the willingness and the means to support such an undertaking here.

The undersigned is willing to contribute freely the results of his many years of research. Others have generously offered material relating to families of certain towns. There will still remain, however, a tremendous amount of special research to be done, in original sources of information which are scattered throughout the State. The expense of compilation is bound to be large, and to carry out the work as planned, will run to several thousands of dollars, but the cost can be spread over the several years which it will require to complete the work. We shall be glad to discuss the matter in more detail with any who may feel disposed to aid the proposed undertaking.

The plan is to cover all vital records to 1700, and to digest all the genealogical information which is buried in the early probate, court, town and land records. These for the most part are scattered throughout the state, and that is the reason for the large expense which so ambitious a project will entail. The plan is also to type the results of the research in duplicate from time to time, placing the carbon copy at the State Library, thus insuring the manuscript against damage or loss, and making the material available to other genealogical students while the work is in progress.

THE COWLES FAMILIES IN AMERICA

This great work has been compiled by Col. Calvin D. Cowles, of Hartford, Conn., who was engaged on it for thirty-seven years. It contains 1254 pages of genealogical matter exclusive of the index, and is a veritable encyclopedia of the family history, as well as a contribution to the history of New England and national history. The two volumes are well bound, and contain the names of over 25,000 persons. The copious index provides for easy reference. The price is $25.00, which barely covers printing costs on an edition of 300 copies. Send your subscription to the publishers, The Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor Co., 125 Temple Street, New Haven, Connecticut. The books will be ready for distribution shortly.

MAGAZINE ANNOUNCEMENT

In future issues we hope to print, as opportunity offers, valuable records from private sources, of the same kind as the Gilbert Mortality List and the Bethany Mortality List which have already appeared. Edward B. Alling, Esq., of Orange City, Fla., has contributed a record of burials at Hamden Plains Cemetery beginning 1789. Newton J. Peck, Esq., of Woodbridge, Conn., has contributed Woodbridge Mortality Lists. Both the above have been typed, ready for the printer. From the late Sheldon B. Thorpe, Esq., of North Haven, Conn., we received a copy of a private list of early deaths in that town. A subscriber has offered a copy of the extremely valuable West Haven Mortality List. Only lack of space prevents us from printing these records as rapidly as we should like. Many subscribers are impatiently waiting for families near the end of the alphabet to appear, and we can therefore devote only a few pages in each volume to other matter until the "Families of Ancient New Haven" are completed.
